

THE SUMMIT 2 END IT

Ending Human Trafficking in Colorado

Summit 2 End It Colorado

January 7, 2013

Colorado Convention Center, Denver

Klein Frank Foundation

We want to bring talented, solution minded people together to end Human Trafficking in Colorado. We are in this 2 end it.

Summit 2 End It Colorado

Colorado Trial Lawyers

CTLA has been a strong partner with our Foundation - lending its expertise in helping people who have suffered life altering harms. Founded in 1953, the Colorado Trial Lawyers Association is the state's largest specialty bar association. CTLA is comprised of Colorado attorneys who are committed to the protection and advancement of individual rights and the advancement of trial advocacy skills, high ethical standards and professionalism in the ongoing effort to preserve and improve the American system of jurisprudence. The Staff of CTLA have tirelessly and generously provided logistical support. Thank you for caring CTLA!

Holly Bennett, Attorney

Holly Bennett is Deputy Director of The Colorado Trial Lawyers Association. She has spent her adult life working or volunteering for nonprofits, specializing in progressive causes. Helping Assisting the Klein Frank Foundation get started is her way to help combat 21st Century slavery.

Bomber Web Development

The professionals at Bomber Web Development are masters at creating beautiful and effective websites and branding. When we called they dropped everything to be a part of this project. Their results speak for themselves.

Ambajam and the Cuddle Project

My inspiration for donating blankets to survivors of Human Trafficking is that, as the founder/owner of Ambajam, I am devoted to making a difference by touching lives one blanket at a time. I have taken great care to create a blanket that is soft, warm, brings comfort and that people can cuddle up in. From my limited exposure to the world of Human Trafficking, I understand that survivors need comfort and understanding. A way I feel I can give back is to provide comfort through the warmth and safety of the AMBAJAM blankets. For those filled with pain, uncertainty or far away from home, the Ambajam blanket provides the soft, warm reassurance of a cuddle. It is my hope that when a person receives this blanket and wraps it around themselves, they will feel loved in that moment.

WELCOME to the inaugural Summit 2 End It. The Klein Frank Foundation is honored to host the Summit to End It: Ending Human Trafficking in Colorado. We have brought together inspiring leaders in the fields of education, medicine, government and law from around the country to share their experiences and develop a plan of action to end human trafficking in Colorado.

This is not a Summit just to hear that human trafficking exists and that it exists within the borders of Colorado. This Summit is to learn what has worked in Colorado, elsewhere around the country, will explore what has worked in Colorado and around the world. This Summit will explain what resources we have in Colorado and what we need. This Summit is to develop the solution to the problem and to join together to end human trafficking and the destruction that it causes.

At the Summit, you will hear from talented, solution minded people who have traveled from near and far to share their successes, their solutions and their ideas. You will also hear about the trafficking victims who have been rescued; their stories are powerful.

The Klein Frank Foundation was developed to create a brickless community actively and effectively working toward an end to human trafficking. We believe that every day is an opportunity to inspire and be inspired to end this crime. The Klein Frank Foundation, throughout this Summit and afterwards, endeavors to connect the innovative, talented and solution minded people in Colorado who want to see Human Trafficking end. The Summit will inform us of the depth of human trafficking in Colorado and by extension, the United States. Today, we will have the opportunity to create lasting relationships in this community of social change makers and government and to engage with this diverse community, working on specific issues, and recognizing successes, innovations and measures. One goal of the Klein Frank Foundation is to ensure that every dollar is spent wisely and effectively with ending human trafficking as the only objective.

We know that any solution to social problems lies in the skills, creativity, and efforts of people committed to change. We are here to provide leadership opportunity, partnership, and technological platforms to end human trafficking. We know that there are many against us. But together, we can fight this crime and end human trafficking in Colorado.

We are in this 2 end it. Join us.

8:00 – 8:45 AM ..... Doors Open - Registration – Security Check

8:45 – 9:00 AM ..... Welcome from Klein Frank Foundation

9:00 – 10:00 AM ..... Education, Prevention and Empowerment

In Colorado there is no curriculum in schools to make children aware of trafficking and to help them from staying out of danger. This discussion will focus on what options are available to schools, PTAs, youth groups, and faith based organizations to increase safety and awareness for Colorado kids. This segment will also identify resources for educators to identify potential students at risk and where to go for help.

Dr. Larry Feldman, Vice Chair School Board. Miami-Dade County Public Schools. Miami-Dade was very pro-active in getting programs in place to responsibly educate kids, parents, and teachers on the issues.

<http://studentservices.dadeschools.net/HTAC/index.asp>

Rachel Durchslag, Executive Director of the Chicago Alliance Against Sexual Exploitation. <http://caase.org/meet-the-staff> Ms. Durchslag has developed many training programs, including a vital program to empower boys about healthy relationships. <http://caase.org/prevention>

Amy Collins, Prevention Education Coordinator, Sexual Assault Resource Center (SARC) in Portland, Oregon. SARC offers full-time Education Coordinator who is committed to providing a comprehensive sexual assault prevention curriculum within the middle and high schools, alternative schools, youth groups and activity centers. www.sarc.org

Brad Riley, I-Empathize, Boulder, Colorado. <http://iempathize.org/empower-empower-teens/> I-Empathize offers empowerment training in Colorado high schools and universities.

Pamela M. Anderson, Ph.D., Senior Research Associate, ETR Associates (Education, Training & Research), Ms. Anderson has completed a study concerning the normalization of pimp behavior in teen relationships.

10:00 to 10:15 AM ..... Break

10:15 – 11:15 AM ..... Law, Legislation, and the Justice System

There is a widespread belief that there are no anti-human trafficking laws in Colorado or that the laws are ineffective. Colorado has only had one successful prosecution for human trafficking under specific trafficking law, but the number of Grand Jury indictments are increasing. Denver eliminated their diversion programs, and the Johns School no longer exists. Many prosecutors do not emphasize these crimes, and cases are dismissed or not prosecuted due to issues with victims. Colorado has enacted HT laws, including law to generate revenue from John arrests. However, barriers exist: lack of funding for police, lack of use of the fining structure at the county level, and lack of funding for a $30,000 fiscal note to implement the state fund for police and rescue operations. This segment will address the background of law and what is needed to successfully deal with this crime in the justice system.

Michael Holtby, LCSW, BCD. Mr. Holtby was the therapist who treated the men who participated in John School diversion programs. He has conducted a study to determine common characteristics and traits of Johns and how to reduce demand by addressing the issues rather than engaging in blanket demonization. Participants will be surprised to learn about the issues that lead men to buy sex and what can be done to reduce demand.

Justin Fitzsimmons, Senior Attorney with NDAA's National Center for Prosecution of Child Abuse in Alexandria, Virginia. Mr. Fitzsimmons organizes three national conferences a year about online crimes against children: Unsafe Havens I, Unsafe Havens II and Safety Net. Unsafe Havens I is an intermediate course designed to facilitate prosecutors understanding of complex issues in cases of technology facilitated crimes against children and is offered in locations across the country. Unsafe Havens II, an advanced trial advocacy course, takes place at the National Advocacy Center in Columbia, South Carolina. Safety Net trains multidisciplinary teams who investigate online crimes against children. Additionally, Mr. Fitzsimmons also provides training at other events pertaining to online crimes against children as well as other sexual and physical abuse crimes against children.

Senator Brandon Shaffer, President of the Colorado Senate. President Shaffer will provide a complete summary of the legislation in Colorado. He will also discuss the difficulty of legislation against internet sales based upon Congressional grants of immunity to Internet Service Providers.

Janet Drake, Assistant Attorney General, Colorado. Ms. Drake is the lead prosecutor on all HT cases in Colorado. She will discuss the issues with the current law, what prosecutors need, why cases are dismissed, and constitutional and evidentiary issues involved in the prosecution of HT cases. She will address the issue of whether it is more productive to charge and prosecute human trafficking under classic crimes such as battery, kidnapping, sexual assault or organized crime.

11:15 – 12:15 PM ..... Medicine and the Human Trafficking Victim

All health care providers are mandatory reporters for suspected human trafficking victims under Colorado law, but in Colorado there has been no systemized training or support for physicians to identify the population and the reporting requirements. Dr. Chaffee and Dr. Crane have successfully implemented protocols and will explain what they have done in their states.

Tonya Chaffee, MD, MPH Associate Clinical Professor, University of California San Francisco, Dept. of Pediatrics Director Teen and Young Adult HealthCenter and Medical Director CASARC San Francisco General Hospital

<http://blogs.kqed.org/newsfix/2012/09/19/exploited-boys-in-sf-disappear-from-view/>

Patricia A. Crane, PhD, MSN, RN, WHNP-BC, DF-IAFN, Associate Professor, School of Nursing, University of Texas Medical Branch Galvesto

<http://son.utmb.edu/faculty/crane.asp>

12:15 – 1:00 PM ..... Lunch on Your Own
(see Information section for local restaurants)

1:00 – 2:30 PM ..... Population Identification Issues and Language and Police Operations

This is the most sought after information for the Summit. Participants will learn the ways that victims of human trafficking are identified - from behaviors to the ways that pimps brand their "property." Participants will learn how to identify a victim of HT and exactly what to do if they identify a victim. We will also discuss the fact that Colorado had a state wide hotline (in addition to the National hotline organized by Polaris) but the funding for the Colorado hotline was lost. The Summit will look for ways for Colorado to develop a long term strategy to connect the victims to help.

We have a bare bones police operation in Colorado that is funded by a Department Of Justice grant and a donation from the Wyss foundation. That money runs out one year from now. The Klein Frank Foundation is raising money for police operation grants, but Colorado needs a real long term solution.

Amber McDonald, LSW. Ms. McDonald is the top forensic interviewer and Program Director of Blue Sky Bridge, a child and family advocacy center in Boulder. Blue Sky Bridge's mission is to make the community safer for all children and families through intervention, education and advocacy.

Ann Darr, FBI Victim Specialist. Ms. Darr will present the "boots on the ground" point of view of rescuing victims of HT from the streets of Colorado.

Becky Owens Bullard, Project Coordinator | Special Programs Unit. Ms. Bullard was the national trainer for Polaris and she worked with the national hotline.

AGENDA

She knows from reviewing thousands of calls what to look for and what to do. She has ideas on a successful hotline systems – what works; what fails. Sgt. Dan Steele, Supervisor of Innocence Lost Task Force. Sgt. Steele knows the numbers, the stories, and will explain the needs of the Task Force to provide continued success.

Chris Baughman, Las Vegas Anti-Human Trafficking Units. Officer Baughman will discuss the assets and the team that works on anti-human trafficking in Las Vegas.

2:30 - 2:45 PM ..... Break

2:45- 3:45 PM ..... National & Global Responses & Structures that Work

What ideas can Colorado gather from international organizations and the US Government?

Linda K Dixon, Program Manager, U.S. Department of Defense's Combating Trafficking in Persons (CTIP). Ms. Dixon has testified on a number of occasions before congressional committees about DoD's CTIP program. Ms. Dixon is developing training modules that are based on realistic, military-related TIP scenarios. She is working with the Office of the Secretary of Defense for Acquisition Technology and Logistics to implement a Strategic Plan for monitoring and enforcing contractor compliance with TIP laws and regulations. She is working to include TIP in DoD post conflict, humanitarian aid and Peacekeeping and Stability Operations. Ms. Dixon's last duty assignment within the military was with the Department of Defense Office of the Inspector General (IG) as a Senior Program Analyst within the Inspections and Evaluations Directorate. During her tenure as an IG, Ms. Dixon assisted DoD with initiatives to combat trafficking in persons. She led an IG team on a worldwide evaluation of the DoD efforts to combat trafficking in persons. <http://ctip.defense.gov/>

Rene Wright, International Justice Mission (fmr) will discuss building partnerships, getting traction, and creating international legal systems where the rule of law is established through transformation.

Beth Klein
http://www.lawcolorado.net/community/about\_us/beth\_klein\_attorney\_biography

Beth Klein witnessed human trafficking first hand when her grandfather that she only met once bought a 19 year old mail order bride. Beth was 19. She witnessed children being sold in Costa Rica and knew that something had to be done. In response, she served on international anti-slavery boards, helped write laws for nations and states, and she assisted other foundations to create national strategies and initiatives. She brings a wealth of knowledge about the world-wide response to the issue of human trafficking - both successes and failures. She was awarded the 21 Leader Award for the 21st Century by Women's E News for being an advocate for the enslaved. More Magazine in its May 2011 edition named her as one of the 50 Women You Want on Your Side along with Oprah Winfrey, Hillary Clinton and Michelle Obama. She received the 2011 Georgia Imhoff Philanthropy Activism Award and the Denver Rescue Mission named her as one of the Women Who Changed the Heart of the City of Denver in 2012. She was named as one of the Top 500 Lawyers in the United States by Law Dragon and has been rated as a Colorado Super Lawyer since its inception, often being voted as one of the top 100 lawyers in Colorado.

Carrie Frank began her professional life as a social worker. Armed with a master's degree, she worked with children and teens who had been abused by friends, relatives and strangers in New York and Colorado. After returning to school, Carrie obtained her law degree. Carrie has consistently been recognized as a leading attorney in her field, being voted a SuperLawyer by her peers since 2009, rated as one of the top 3000 attorneys by LawDragon for many years, and has also been included in The Best Lawyers In America in 2012 and 2013. Carrie is a sought after speaker and she teaches and speaks on national and local levels for many organizations where she teaches trial and communication skills to other attorneys. She brings critical expertise in boots on the ground practices.

Carrie and Beth met in 1986 at the University of Denver College of law. They successfully worked for decades as trial attorneys helping critically injured people rebuild their lives. Together, they bring a vast knowledge of law, courtroom skills, and teaching ability to the issue - but they know that in order to solve this issue, a broad skill and commitment base is necessary.

Broken Bridges

"At some point in my life, each and everyone of you tried to help me do right and re-direct my life. But all I did was deny, causing you all to cry. My decisions were major, come to realize the effects much later. Worrysum hearts were left in the dark, burning and breaking my bridges apart. Day by day, slowly losing hope, dimming my light and shortening my rope. Til I finally reached its end and there was nothing left to do but mend. So I'm taking that step, not only to change, and though it may seem strange, let me explain. I've learned the truth and been expressed the good news, that I have a man whose love for me is true. He sits on a throne and with a soft gentle tone, he whispered in my ear, the words I so desperately needed to hear, to open my eyes and truly re-direct my life, to brighten my light so I can ignite. I'm ready to use my full potential and take advantage of this reviving renewal. This spiritual reawakening, that's handing me so much for the taking. Comfort by his staff and rod, leading me to a deeper walk with God. He's helped me escape my fear, with the knowing his presence is always near. No more worries, no more concerns, I've sacrificed my dreams for something much greater to earn. I'm sure you may not understand, for I have surrendered my future into the palm of my saviors right hand, in knowing my will shall cause me only to fail, therefore living his word theres no chance to fail. So I thank you all for never losing faith in me, and never giving up, nor forsaken me."

2-1-11

Used and abused, mistreated and confused
 No one left to accuse, nothing left to lose
 Scared straight, beat and raped
 Is this my fate, no reason to debate
 I guess ill find out soon enough
 What the reason of all this was
 I'll make is thru, til my day is due
 To leave this hell and come home to you
 I know you've got a plan; and thru it strong ill stand
 By my side you'll stay, thru thick n thin, night n day
 Just got to keep my faith, keep standing tall,
 Never hang my head, and try not to fall
 Fall back into temptation, where evil lies
 And theres no salvation
 With my hope as high as your glorious sky,
 And my faith as strong as the words on your tongue
 There's no mountain I cant climb
 And no obstacle I can't overcome
 Lord you've wiped my tears, helped me overcome
 my fears
 Showed me the light and guided me to do right
 So now I speak with no hesitation,
 The truth, and the word of your salvation

What is the purpose of my life...what have I been put here to do? What is the meaning to this everyday struggle I'm constantly going through. The hurt and the pain, this unjust game. Played and humiliated, put to shame. I walk down the street and feel as if everyone knows, what I'm out here for, what he says goes. Just trying to survive, make it through another night, struggling to fight to stay alive, hoping and praying God makes it alright. Please Lord take me off these streets, heal me tonight, give me something to eat. Starving with a hunger that can't be filled, with the materialistic dreams he feeds with such skill. So many emotions, so many Trojans, what is the reason that I've been chosen? I feel of no worth, like the stomped on dirt; Everyday men ripping off my skirt; taking advantage because they paid first. On to the next on, as if it was no thing. Lost my innocence to something disgusting; Nothing gained; Everything lost, my heart locked up after that line was crossed. Shattered and broken, I almost hope in seeing that day when the heavens will open. Shedding the light to a whole new life. I'm ready to do right, and fight the good fight. On to the road of redemption, my turn to pay it forward with no hesitation. I'll always stay strong, for I've realized there's truly a reason its taken so long. Every trial and tribulation was set on my path, to strengthen my faith and escape God's wrath. To build my endurance, give me the courage to persevere, re-open my heart, and escape my fear. To become wise yet humble, to get back up when I stumble. I do have a purpose, I've been given a power, to make a difference, as I finally open up, and bloom like a flower. I am worth much more than the stomped on dirt, no more men ripping off my skirt. I've got a future of accomplishment and success, in everything I do...I'm going to be the BEST!
